Forecast For Northwest England
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 0400 on Monday 01 Nov 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:
Windy and showery today. Somewhat quieter conditions from Tuesday.

Today:
A wet and windy start with coastal gales during the morning. Becoming brighter, but remaining showery into the afternoon, and the showers could still be heavy at times. Winds gradually easing and feeling cooler than recent days. Maximum temperature 11 deg C (52 deg F).

Tonight:
Further showers this evening and overnight, though some clear spells too, especially inland. Still quite breezy, especially towards the coast, and turning chilly in well sheltered locations inland. Minimum temperature 4 deg C (39 deg F).

Tuesday:
A quieter day with more in the way of sunshine, fewer showers and lighter winds. Most of the showers will be in coastal areas. Maximum temperature 10 deg C (50 deg F).

Outlook for Wednesday to Friday:
Showery again on Wednesday, but drier on Thursday and Friday. Generally rather cold by day, with the risk of overnight frost where skies remain clear.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.